VHOC Obedience/Rally Trial September 16 & 17

Hi All,

Just a reminder that VHOC's annual obedience and rally trial is this weekend, September 16 & 17 at Stone Pony Ranch in Moorpark. If you're not entered, come out anyway and support your fellow club members.

If you are entered, please remember that the trial grounds open at 7am - not earlier! The trial starts at 8:30 so you will have plenty of time to setup and warmup your dog before your class. Also, no setups allowed on Friday due to an agility trial going on in the afternoon.

Good luck and have fun!

Aflatoxin... Avoiding the Deadliest Natural Toxin in Dog Food

URL: <https://www.dogfoodadvisor.com/canine-nutrition/aflatoxin/>

Submitted by Allison Pobirs

Aflatoxin can cause life-threatening illness in dogs

Aflatoxin is one of the most dangerous natural poisons known to food scientists. And many times, it can be found in some of the most popular dog foods on the market.

Recently...

Aflatoxin has led to the tragic death of hundreds of dogs... and has caused an increasing number of life-threatening dog food recalls.

What Is Aflatoxin?

Aflatoxin is a potent ‘natural’ poison that’s produced by a common type of food mold known as Aspergillus flavus.

But it’s NOT the mold you need to worry about.

It’s aflatoxin... the deadly poison produced by that mold... that can cause liver failure, cancer and death... in dogs.

Which Ingredients Contain Aflatoxin?

In nature...

Aspergillus mold is a gray-green, fuzzy-looking substance that can be found growing on the surface of cereal grains.

Grains like wheat, millet, sorghum, and rice.

However, since 2009...

Corn has been the most common source of aflatoxin in every poison-related dog food recall.

Here’s what corn contaminated with Aspergillus mold looks like:

Aspergillus mold on corn and producing aflatoxin

But keep in mind...

Corn Is NOT the Problem

It’s the companies that buy these moldy crops (in the first place). And then fail to test them for hidden toxins... BEFORE they’re used to make pet food.

Larger, multi-national pet food companies tend to have the resources needed to routinely test for contaminants.

Which is probably why (since 2009)...

We’ve noted zero aflatoxin-related recalls from major brands, including those that use corn in their recipes.<sup>1</sup>

What’s more...

Corn is not the only source of aflatoxin.

That’s because...

Aspergillus mold can grow on just about ANY food crop... including wheat, rice, millet... and dozens of others.

What Makes Aflatoxin So Dangerous?

Compared to almost any other dog food contaminant, aflatoxin has the potential to be FAR more dangerous.

That's because...

Aflatoxin is invisible. So, you can't see it... not even with a high-power microscope.

Yet it can still be present... even when there's no visible sign of mold on the surface of the food.

What's more...

Unlike Salmonella and other disease-causing bacteria...

Aflatoxin is a poisonous chemical.

Which means... it's NOT alive.

Corn contaminated with mold during storage

So You Can't Kill It

And you can't cook it out of a dog food, either.

In fact...

Aflatoxin is so resistant to heat...

It even survives the germ-killing process of pasteurization... a process required by law when making canned dog foods.

Or the high heat methods used for making dry dog food.

Which is why, after cooking, the deadly poison can still be found inside an unopened can of wet dog food...

Or a sealed bag of dry kibble.

How Toxic Is Aflatoxin?

Compared to other natural poisons...

Aflatoxin has the highest toxicity of all mold toxins.<sup>2</sup> And for this reason, it's one of the leading causes of liver failure and liver cancer in dogs.<sup>3</sup>

What's worse...

There's no known anti-toxin to neutralize it. So, once aflatoxin enters a dog's body... there's no way to remove it.

Two Ways Aflatoxin Can Kill Your Dog

Dogs are highly susceptible to aflatoxin poisoning.

That's because unlike humans, who eat a varied diet...

Dogs tend to eat the same food... meal after meal... day after day... for a lifetime.

Which is why there are 2 ways aflatoxin can kill a dog.

Acute poisoning

Chronic poisoning

Acute Poisoning

Dogs exposed to higher doses of aflatoxin can experience sudden and severe reactions to the poison.

Acute reactions like these can progress so quickly that a dog can die before ever receiving treatment.

These are the cases you hear about the most... and they represent the leading cause of aflatoxin-related recall events.

Chronic Poisoning

In contrast...

Dogs exposed to lower, non-lethal doses of aflatoxin over a longer period of time may survive.

But chronic, long term exposure to smaller doses can be just as deadly.

That's because...

Tiny, invisible amounts of poison can accumulate in the body... over time... and can ultimately cause liver cancer later in your dog's life.<sup>4</sup>

Which is what makes chronic poisoning so much more dangerous.

The Bottom Line

Chronic, long-term exposure to tiny, undetectable amounts of aflatoxin in your pet's food has the potential to cause serious damage to the future health of your dog.

How to Protect Your Dog from Aflatoxin

On this page...

You've learned about aflatoxin and why it's so dangerous. Here are 3 things you can do right now to protect your dog from this deadly poison.

Become aware of recalls early. So you can take action... before smaller doses of aflatoxin can accumulate in your dog's body. Click here to get free lifesaving dog food recall alerts by email as soon as they happen.

Don't rely on grain-based dog foods alone. Keep in mind, aflatoxin is only rarely found in grain-free recipes. Instead, consider diet rotation to diversify your pet's menu.

Don't avoid corn. Mold toxins can be hidden in ANY grain-inclusive recipe. To lower the risk, avoid brands with troubled recall histories... especially those known for being repeat offenders when it comes to aflatoxin or other matters of product safety. Repeat offenders are removed from each of The Dog Food Advisor's "best" lists as soon as they're discovered. So, visit one of the many Editor's Choice categories from our Best Dog Food page for some safe suggestions.

September is National Service Dog Month

National Service Dog Month, celebrated every September, takes place to show appreciation to our four-legged friends who often play a huge role in the lives of human beings. Yes, service dogs are more than just pets since they have been trained to take care of humans suffering from certain ailments, disabilities, or mental health issues. Therefore, the sole purpose of their life becomes to aid their human companion and make their lives easier. This is why it is essential to honor these hard-working pups by dedicating the entire month of September to them.

The eight types of service dogs are Autism Service Dogs, Hearing Dogs, Diabetic Alert Dogs, Seizure Response Dogs, Guide Dogs, Allergy Detection Dogs, Mobility Assistance Dogs, and PTSD Service Dogs.

Don't forget to Wash Your Dog's Water Bowl

A pet's mouth has good and bad bacteria in it that binds to water and sticks to the side of the bowl, creating a slimy biofilm. When pets drink from excessively dirty water bowls, they risk getting UTI's, middle ear infections and dental plaque formation.

92-Year-Old Dot Dobie Competes in Agility With Standard Schnauzers

By Ranny Green

Published: Sep 12, 2023 | 4 Minutes

Whether you're a seasoned AKC Agility competitor or just like to watch, you can tell that Agility courses are often pretty complicated. Now imagine navigating one of these Agility courses at age 92. Vancouver, Washington, resident Dorothy "Dot" Dobie doesn't have to imagine — this is her reality.

She's not new to the sport either. She currently competes with her Standard Schnauzers "Kruzer" CH MACH6 Steinhaus Wyldwind Kruzecontrol, and "Kaper," Steinhaus Wyldwind Chasing Lions. Kaper, who turns 2 in October, has already advanced to the Excellent level in both Standard and Jumpers Agility classes.

A Lifelong Competitive Spirit

Even before she got started in dog sports, she always had a strong drive. Her level of ambition is mirrored in her fascinating past, pushing boundaries and making a name for herself in everything she did. In the 1950s, Dobie worked in a Navy SEALs program called 'Women Accepted for Volunteer Emergency Service' (Navy WAVES, part of the United States Naval Reserve). No easy task, especially in a time where it was most common for women to be nurses if they were involved in the military. "There were eight of us who went to Seattle for a rigorous two months' training program," she recalls. "Half were out after the first three days. Another woman [and I] hung in there until the end." During the period that the program ran, WAVES recruited over 90,000 women, mainly during World War II, to serve onshore and throughout the continental United States.

Throughout her life, she continued to find outlets where she could dedicate her passion. From 1944 to 1974, Dobie was a member of various top-tier American Softball Association teams, including the Erv Lind Florists. This team won the Amateur Softball Association (ASA) World Championship in 1964, with her as captain. With her fast pitch, she was All-American four times, in 1960, 1965, 1969 and 1970. Dobie was inducted into the National Softball Hall of Fame in 1995, and can also be found in the Portland ASA, the Yakima Washington, the Northwest Region, and the Oregon Sports Hall of Fame.

Over 60 Years of Agility

It's only natural that her love for competition continued. In the 1960s, Dobie purchased her first Standard Schnauzer. She competed in Conformation for almost thirty years before taking a stab at something new.

She tried Agility in the 1990s and hasn't stopped since. "Agility has given me a reason to enjoy life and want to live for another day," Dobie says. "My many Agility friends are my extended family and support me. They reach out to me at all times, whether at the show venues or at home. Quite honestly, I don't know what I would do without them."

92-Year-Old Dot Dobie Competes in Agility With Standard Schnauzers—continued

Despite her strong bond with her Agility family, Dobie is still fiercely independent. Even nearing 100, she drives herself to all her competitions, and still trials 15 to 16 times per year. She has her boundaries though: she always tries to get home before dark, and limits her trials to ones near her in the Pacific Northwest.

Staying in Shape and Not Slowing Down

Dobie makes sure to prioritize her physical wellness. “Dot’s long experience with physical fitness allows her to stay in shape and understand how to move effectively,” explains her trainer, Heather Christenson of Bright Agility Academy. Christenson notes that it can be hard to get Dobie to slow down sometimes, and she continues to be a strong competitor mentally and physically. “She immediately internalizes feedback and implements changes in handling when working with different handling choices. This enables her to work through issues that come up quickly. She’s a wonder!”

Though she may face complications with her body, her dreams and ambitions aren’t getting any simpler. Foot surgery recently sidelined Dobie, but only temporarily. “This is exasperating,” said Dobie of her injury. “Sitting on the sidelines and not being able to compete is not for me.”

Luckily, she’s already on the mend, and making plans to enter two Agility competitions in Oregon this September. Even when she’s not competing, she’s still exercising at home where she can to stay in shape.

Someone to Look Up To

Dot’s friends, young and old, continue to be impressed by what she accomplishes. Her Agility ambitions aren’t dwindling with age, and her dog’s titles reflect the hard work she puts into their relationship and the sport. Kruzer has his MACH6 and CH under his belt, and right now she’s working with Kaper towards his MACH1.

“Dot is absolutely amazing,” says Martha “Marti” Park, Dobie’s close friend. “Who else gets a new puppy at age 91?” Park notes that in his first trial, a three-day trial this past summer, Kaper won every class he qualified in. At this trial alone, he earned both his Novice Agility Standard and Jumpers titles, and ended up High in Trial. “She’s a phenomenal handler,” Park says. “She’s an inspiration to all of us.”

Other competitors are in awe of Dobie in action too. “Every time I watch Dot compete, I think, ‘Wow, I wish I could run like that!’” says fellow Agility competitor and longtime friend Little Liedblad. “She is so smooth with her moves when running with her dogs. I’ve seen her take a tumble in the ring, bounce right back up, and continue on as if nothing happened.”

Judges aren’t exempt from the wonder of Dot Dobie’s runs either. “I find myself saying, ‘I sure wish I could run as well as Dot,’” says AKC Agility judge and licensed trial secretary Lori Sage. “Dot always has a kind word and a special hug to greet me at all the trials, something I truly cherish. She’s always a bright spot in my busy day running Agility trials. I want to be like Dot when I grow up!”

Celebrating Dot

Dobie’s impact on others doesn’t go unnoticed. To celebrate her 90th birthday in June of 2021, Park organized a celebration at an Agility trial in Ridgefield, Washington. Everyone in attendance, judges included, wore special “Dot Day” T-shirts, signed a memory book, brought gifts, swapped stories, and ate cupcakes with frosted dots on them.

“Dot does not like being the center of attention,” explains Park. “So we knew that if we wanted to do something for her, we would have to do so without her knowing. The fact she is not on Facebook nor any social media made planning a bit easier, with everyone sworn to secrecy.” Along with doing what she loves in Agility, Dobie got to feel just how appreciated she is in the dog sport world and beyond. “The love shared that day was literally palpable and remains a lifetime memory for all of us.”

Dobie reflects on her action-packed life so far by mirroring it in song titles, and tells it with a smile on her face. “‘Born Free,’ as my parents gave me freedom to become what I wanted; ‘My Way,’ even though it may not have been the right way or the best way; ‘The Impossible Dream,’ which would include winning the World Softball Championship and earning MACHs on my dogs; and ‘Wind Beneath My Wings,’ which includes my teammates, opponents, and especially my Agility family, who encourage me to do better and reach for the stars.”

Sharon Clarke with Leo and Dash

For Leo: Leo and I attend the Santa Barbara Kennel club conformation shows on August 24,25,26 and 27. On Thursday, Leo was Best opposite Sex and were Owner Handler winner, but we did not place.

On Friday, Leo was awarded Best of Breed and Best Owner Handler, we moved onto the group rings, but we did not place in either ring. On Saturday, we had a repeat of Friday, Best of Breed, best Owner Handler and again did not place in either group ring. Sunday, Leo was best opposite Sex. Not bad for a dry run in anticipation of our national and regional specialties to be held the following weekend in Costa Mesa at the Shoreline shows.

On Friday, September 1st there was a supported entry for Standard Schnauzers, but we did not place. On Saturday, September 2, the National Specialty we showed in breed again and made the first cut, but ultimately did not go any further in the competition. Leo was also entered in Stud Dog and won this competition. On Sunday, September 3, the Regional specialty Leo showed in Breed, made the cut, but did not go any further. He was also in the Stud Dog competition and again won this category.

For Dash: Believe it or not, Dash (obedience dog) entered in Veterans Sweeps won his age category and went on to win Best in Veterans Sweeps at the National Specialty on Saturday. He had not been in a breed competition in some 6 years and never with me at the end of the lead as he was professionally handled to his Bronze grand championship. And he did it again on Sunday at the Regional specialty!

This past weekend we were again in a familiar ring in obedience in Santa Maria at the Santa Maria San Luis Bay GSD obedience trial. Dash had a great weekend. On Saturday he was 1st in Utility and 2nd in Open B and was tied for a while for high in trial, but ultimately walked away with high combined! On Sunday, Dash was 1st in Utility and also 1st in Open B and again High Combined!

9/3/23 - Cheyenne Kennel Club, Cheyenne, WY - Utility B, 189, 4th place

I'm so thrilled that I finally have earned a UD! We had a few NQs earlier in the year and then we earned the title in three straight trials all with first places, from Utility B. Even though we are really a Utility A team, I switched us to the "B" class so we wouldn't always have heeling & signals first and that suited Tele just fine! The Colorado obedience community has been so supportive and welcoming to us since we moved, and it was extra special to finish the title at our specialty with a High In Trial along with some OTCH points.

Now we're working on improving our scores (our heeling needs some polishing!) as we continue to have fun in the obedience ring!
